Wood Proves Vital For War

Lumber and wood products are in vital demand to provide many items and materials Uncle Sam needs to supply our fighting men. Wood is being used in increasing quantities for explosives, rayon, shipping containers, ships, guns and a thousand other uses. In the past we have thought of wood in terms of fuel, boards and trees. Wood today ranks with steel for war effort purposes. Farm woodlot owners have a real opportunity to contribute in winning the war by weeding out crooked, defective and less desirable trees which will bring the woodlot into the farm plan, and assist in supplying pulp and chemical wood and lumber. Planned management of woodlots will yield a profit in peace times as well as during an emergency period such as we are now experiencing.

Under proper forest practices, trees put on increased growth and better prices are received for the high quality lumber thus produced. Victory gardeners have learned that management and thinning are necessary practices to obtain a good yield. The same results are possible to the woodlot owner and farmer who crops his forest land instead of cutting the small trees that should be left to form the foundation of a cut of timber to be made at a later time.

Poorly formed and defective trees can and should be removed. This will work to the advantage of the woodlot and also the owner at this time for fuel. Coal, gas and electricity for civilian use is being restricted to provide increased power for the production of materials for our fighting forces. Wood is the servant of man. Grow it. Harvest it as a crop.

Maroon Car Hunted By Police Dept.

A maroon car carrying a New Jersey license was the object of a police hunt by Warren police over the week end. The car and its driver roused suspicion by their actions and the cops got on the job. However, diligent search failed to turn up such a car as had been reported.

The police captured and shot a dog showing signs of rabies and the officers had quite a time getting the pup without being bitten. However they finally accomplished the feat.

A fellow trying to peddle a few watches and a kodak roused suspicion Saturday but he was not run down by the police. There was a suspicion that he might have stolen the property. However the kodak was purchased by a local dealer and it was an old model.

A prowler call and a few unlocked doors gave the cops some work for a time but nothing serious resulted and the police wrote it down as a normal week end.

Community Fair Scored Big Success

The Tiona Community Fair was an unqualified success. The attendance was all that had been hoped for and the number of entries surprised the committee in charge. There were over 500 entries received. The Hobby Shop won a great amount of attention and this was followed by the flower, and needlework exhibit.

During the time the fair was open Boy Scouts were present selling stamps and some bonds were also sold. It is expected that quite a large sum was spent to aid the war loan.

Reports will be received at a meeting to be held tomorrow evening in the Grange Hall when all interested are asked to be present to hear and make reports. The fair was pronounced a success from an interest, attendance and financial standpoint.

RECEIVE LICENSES

Register and Recorder O. E. Loper issued a marriage license on Saturday to John W. Clark, of Glenfield, and Jennie Massa, of Warren. Today, a permit was given to Robert Saunders Johnson and Betty Jean Peterson, both of Warren.

TIMES TOPICS

IRVINE UNIT

The September meeting of the Irvine PTA will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. There will be a business meeting and social time.

PASTORS RETURNED

Assignments announced at the closing session of the Evangelical conference at Pittsburgh return to Warren Rev. J. C. Wygant, of First church, and Rev. S. R. Schieb, at Salem charge. Rev. A. G. Meade, of Clarendon, will go to Conemaugh and will be succeeded by Rev. Charles Ream.

BLANKS ARE RECEIVED

County Treasurer Allan Gibson reports that the applications for the doe hunting have been received at his office and will also soon be available from the agents over the county selling hunting licenses. The applications must be secured and sent to Harrisburg where the permits are issued by the State Game Commission.

HAVE PINT JARS

Many housewives will be interested in the announcement of Metzger-Wright's that they now have pint cans. With everyone canning this year, there has been a severe shortage of the pint size cans and many have been waiting for them, and so, the company rushed the order in to their New York office to find pint cans and now they are here ready for their customers.

TIMES CHANGES MADE

Due to the darkness falling at an earlier hour than during the summer months changes have been announced in the schedules for the mail planes through this city. The times of arrival of the planes in this city are now as follows, effective Monday, September 20, 1943: Southbound: 9:38 a. m. and 1:45 p. m. Northbound: 10:13 a. m. and 5:05 p. m.

Football Festival Real Success With 3 Good Games Played

Saturday afternoon Coach J. B. Leidig "did it again" when unable to book a game for his charges he arranged a football festival with three games played. The events gave every one of the 110 men on the squad a chance to get into a game and added immeasurably to their football knowledge.

The festival began at 1:30 and continued until the three contests had been played. There was a fair size crowd turned out for the occasion and they had plenty of opportunity to do some lusty cheering.

Directors To Meet Here On Thursday

The 150 Warren county school directors will meet in annual session at the Court House Thursday. The morning session will open at 10 o'clock with devotionals led by the Rev. J. C. Wygant, of the First Evangelical church of this city.

At 10:15 T. R. Sponsler, new Vocational Agriculture Adviser for Warren and Forest counties will be introduced. Mr. Sponsler has just moved to Warren and many will meet him for the first time. Miss Helen E. Gates, supervisor of special education for Warren, Erie and Forest counties will also be introduced. She has just assumed her position.

At 11 o'clock Robert Kazmayer will give an address and this promises to be one of the really fine features of the day.

The afternoon session will convene at 1:30 and the program will be as follows:

1:30 — "School Boards and School Business", J. Hugh Henderson.

2:30 — "Community for the School or School for the Community", Dr. Harry Stanley Ganders. Officers of the group are as follows:

President—H. W. Walchli, Clarendon; 1st vice Pres. Mrs. Harriette Courson, Tidoulet; 2nd vice Pres. D. P. Trisket, Columbus; secretary, Mrs. Allene Briggs, Sugar Grove; treasurer, C. V. Pierce, Torpedo; chief executive officer, Supt. H. L. Blair, Warren.

Warren Girl Uninjured In Giant Blast

Mr. and Mrs. George Q. Calderwood, Verbeck street, received a telegram Friday afternoon from their daughter, Ensign Rosanne Calderwood, that she was safe following the ammunition explosion at the Naval Air Station and would write them later.

First reports of the happening, described as one of the worst in the history of the station, gave only very brief details. Later, authorities expressed the belief that the explosion was caused by ammunition in transit. Sections of the hangar were torn away and twisted metal was flung hundreds of yards.

A board of investigation was named to probe cause of the blast which at preliminary count had killed approximately 17 persons and injured 257, 14 critically.

COAL FOR VICTORY

Distributors Must Report On Operators

The date on which the larger primary distributors of meats, fats, oils and dairy products must file their regular operations report with the OPA was extended today from fifteen to thirty days after the end of the reporting period.

At the same time, the OPA provided that these primary distributors may not file the report before the sixteenth day after the end of the reporting period unless the primary distributor has collected all ration points owed to him for transfers reported for that period.

This change in the reporting provisions affects only the larger primary distributors—that is, those who report on Form R-1608. The smaller farm slaughterers and other primary distributors who sell or transfer less than $2,000 worth of ration orders 16 foods during a reporting period are to continue to file their reports within fifteen days after the end of the reporting period. This group files on Form R-1609.

OPA officials stated the extension in the deadline for reporting from fifteen to thirty days after the end of the period will give the larger primary distributors more time to prepare their report. In addition, the new provision that the report not be filed within sixteen days after the end of the period unless all points have been collected will make it easier for OPA to check on those distributors who are in default to the reporting primary distributor.

Today's action becomes effective September 30. It will apply to reports for periods ending on or after September 15, unless the report is filed before September 30. This action is contained in Amendment 63 to Ration Order 16, effective September 30, 1943.

The first game between Fifth and Sixth stringers resulted in a 0 to 0 tie; the second game between the Third and Fourth teams showed a score of 6 to 6 while the First and Second teams went at it hammer and tongs and the first stringers came out with a score of 27 to 0.

Tomorrow evening the Falconer High School Varsity will play on Russell Field and another team will go to Lakewood where they will play the team of that High School.

A GREAT PICTURE OPENS AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

The first epic of the current war is on view beginning today when "The Scorching Earth" opens a limited 2 day engagement on the local Columbia Theatre screen.

Tracing Japanese aggression in China from Manchukuo in 1932 to the present day's bloody conflict, "The Scorching Earth" is a stirring saga of Japanese brutality and Chinese courage. Beseiged by murder, pestilence, drought and disease, how China has fought back gloriously is portrayed in this documentary account of war in the Orient. Every loyal American owes it to himself to see how Japan fights and of what metal our Asiatic ally is made. "The Scorching Earth" is human and as great as the Chinese who star in it.

A. P. Correspondent Gives First Eyewitness Account Of the Capture of Salamaua

(The first eyewitness story out of Salamaua, the New Guinea Japanese base which Australian units captured September 18, comes from Vern Haugland, 35-year-old Associated Press war correspondent. Haugland went to Australia in January, 1942, with one of the first convoys of U. S. troops. He was lost 43 days in the wilds of New Guinea that fall after bail out of a plane, and General Douglas MacArthur personally awarded him the silver star for "courage and perseverance.")

By VERNE HAGLUND
With Allied Forces at Salamaua, New Guinea, Sept. 14—(P)—(Delayed)—With Japanese troops fleeing swiftly before them, Australian and American soldiers staged a footrace for Salamaua—and the Aussies apparently won by a nose.

First sizeable units of both forces entered the ruined, deserted town early Sunday, Sept. 12, but the Australians claimed they had put a patrol in late the night before which spent the night on Salamaua Isthmus.

The Japanese apparently left hastily but in fairly good order. They left weapons and large stores of clothing and supplies in good condition.

Correspondents engrossed with the Lae action 18 miles northwest were caught by surprise by the amazingly quick Japanese collapse. We arrived today by slow boat from Burma, scene of another bloody fight with the enemy earlier in the war.

We found this shattered place with only two or three shacks still standing, and they were badly riddled. But already a bull-dozer was fashioning a road between giant shell craters along the isthmus and a little jeep came rattling along to take us to headquarters.

Hundreds of Australians and Americans were swimming or wading along the isthmus, souvenir hunting. Many Americans of the 162nd regiment, 41st division, who had fought their way across the mountains from Nassau Bay and Tambu Bay and whose uniforms were in tatters, quickly changed to Japanese naval uniforms of white cotton found in great numbers in undamaged warehouses here. What's more, the Japanese clothing was new and perfectly laundered and pressed.

WARTIME MEDICINE

Featuring medical problems of civilians in wartime, the program for the 93rd annual session of the Medical Society of Pennsylvania will include lectures by 50 outstanding authorities on a variety of topics. The sessions are to be held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia in October 5, 6 and 7. The Woman's Auxiliary will hold its state meeting at the same time, with Mrs. Eben J. Carey, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Medical Association, as an honored guest.

NEED VOLUNTEERS

Officials of the Warren County Rationing Board are seeking volunteers who have time to spare and are willing to help with the rationing program. Persons interested in volunteering for this work are asked to call 3048 as soon as possible.

Picture Industry's Part In War Loan Drive Is Outlined

Teamwork will keynote the motion picture industry's part in the Third War Loan, according to George C. Sarvis, manager of the Library Theatre, whose appointment as motion picture chairman of the local campaign was announced today.

The appointment was made by L. C. Griffith, general chairman of the Third War Loan for the War Activities Committee of the motion picture industry, and Pennsylvania, state chairman. It is considered a tribute to the effective work that Mr. Sarvis has done as local chairman of the War Activities Committee. He was a leader in the war bond drive last year and in many other activities conducted by the industry.

speeches and wrote many articles. But he will be remembered by generations yet to come because of this little speech on the dog. Here it is:

"The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, leaving when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolute unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes and death takes the master in his embrace, no matter if all other friends forsake their way, there by the grave side will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness and true even in death. Dog Lover.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Betty Gentilman, who has been in Warren for the past two and one-half years as state nurse, left over the weekend for her vacation after which she will take up special studies at the University of Pittsburgh School of Nursing on a scholarship awarded by the Pennsylvania Department of Health. Registrations take place on Saturday of this week and classes start one week from today. Miss Gentilman expects to return to her employment here upon completion of her course of study.

EDINBORO COURSES

Beginning this evening from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock at the high school building, Dr. H. L. Offner, of Edinboro State Teachers College, will accept registrations for classes in History of Pennsylvania, one of the college credit extension courses being offered teachers of Warren and Warren county. Next Monday, from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m., Miss Hazel Ketcham, who is a specialist in the field of geography, will teach classes in The Geography of the Pacific Realm.

New Pastor Is Welcomed To Warren

A well attended welcoming reception was held in Bethlehem Congregational church parlors for the purpose of greeting its new pastor, Rev. P. Elmer Landerdahl, and his family, formerly located in Garfield, Minn.

The following program was greatly enjoyed by the many present: Scripture reading and prayer; welcome, C. A. Waterbrandt; greetings, Rev. Martin Hamlin, Calvary Baptist pastor, and Rev. G. A. Nelson, Jamestown, N. Y., who is chairman of the Middle East Conference; piano duet, Adelaide Swanson and Beatrice Peterson; greetings read from Rev. T. W. Anderson, Chicago, Ill., president of the Mission Covenant Churches of America, and from Rev. K. Berlin, of Sugar Grove, Wis. Vocal duet, Linnea Scott and Virginia Fredrickson; greeting, Rev. K. Pearson, superintendent of the Home for the Aged at Frewsburg, N. Y.; vocal duet, Virginia Fredrickson and Alice Swanson; poem, Mrs. Atwood Drum.

Rev. Landerdahl was presented with a purse of money from the group and expressed the appreciation of himself and family for the friendly welcomes extended. Rev. Nelson pronounced the benediction to close the program. Refreshments were served in the church parlors and a pleasant social time enjoyed.

Gas Rations For Trucks Are Being Issued

Issuance of fourth quarter transportation gasoline rations started today, it was announced over the weekend by the War Price and Rationing Board.

On and after today, truckers may mail or take in to the local board their certificates of war necessity, together with all supplemental certificates, and their fourth quarter allotments of gasoline will be mailed to them.

Only 60 per cent of the gasoline allotment certified on their original or supplemental certificates will be issued to truckers for the fourth quarter, unless they have secured Form CWN-10 board members said. The full allotment will go to truckers who have Form CWN-10.

This form is an additional certificate granting the supplemental gasoline to those truckers who have appealed to the Office of Defense Transportation.

Explaining this phase of the gasoline allotment, board members said that it means that only those truckers who have appealed to the Office of Defense Transportation and have in their possession the CWN-10 form will receive the full fourth quarter ration. All other truckers will receive only 60 per cent of their fourth quarter ration, except in a few essential cases.

The fourth quarter allotment, board members said, will be practically the same as that for the third quarter cut exceeded 40 per cent, but board members pointed out that the third quarter actually was 26 days shorter and hence the cut approximated 40 per cent, the same that will be effective in the fourth quarter.

There were no newspapers in the United States during the first 80 years of colonization.

GRANGE NOTES

VALLEY GRANGE

NATIONAL FOREST

TIMBER FOR SALE

Sealed bids will be received by the Forest Supervisor at Warren, Pa., up to 2:00 p. m. September 28, 1943, for all the live white ash timber marked or designated for cutting and all merchantable dead white ash timber located on an area embracing 115 acres in Warren 2590, Kinzua Township, Warren County on the watersheds of Dew Drop Run and Kinzua Creek, Allegheny National Forest, Pa., estimated to be 65 M board feet, more or less. No bid will be considered of less than $23.00 per M bd. ft. Five hundred dollars ($500.00) must be submitted with each bid to be applied to the purchase price, refunded or retained in part as liquidated damages, according to conditions of the sale. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Before bids are submitted, a prospective bidder should examine the system of marking on the sale area. Full information concerning the timber, conditions of sale, and submission of bids should be obtained from the Forest Supervisor at Warren, Pa., or from the District Ranger at Sheffield, Pa. The District Ranger will accompany interested parties over the chance to show the marking and give full information on conditions of sale. 9-20-43

FASCISM'S FINIS Unconditional Surrender Means Italy Has Purged Her Government of Fascists and is Ready to Deal Again in Democratic Fashion The Pictures Trace the Rise and Fall of the Unholy Party That Blustering Benito Built

FASCISM WAS BORN in Italy with the ancient Roman fasces as its symbol and balcony bellowing Benito Mussolini as its prophet. Marching men and bayoneted typified Fascism's growing power as the black shirt mob began its 21-year rule in Italy. The pomp and parade of Fascism hypnotized the spectacle-loving Italians until they were enmeshed in its web and had to endure its hardships and terrors.

FASCISM PUT GAS MASKS on its children and rifles on the shoulders of its women as it regimented the life of young and old in one-sun Italy. Fascist leaders proved their fitness by leaping through fiery hoops or over stacked bayonets—but many got hurt or burned. Fascist youth strutted in 1933, but the same boys surrendered in 1943 after getting their fill of fighting in Africa and Sicily.

FASCISM WON AND LOST an empire for Italy. Libya was colonized, partly by the large families that Mussolini urged the Italians to rear. An Ethiopian Quisling waved the white flag and saluted as Fascist troops embarked on the first act of Axis aggression here in 1934-36. Then came the seizure of Albania, and by 1940, Italians in Rome were admiring the empire at its height.

DAY APPROACHES

It can be no secret to anybody, and least of all to the Nazi general staff, that the day is approaching fast when the armies of democracy will begin landing all over the fortress of Europe.

The invasion of Italy is, in a sense, preliminary. There is a real question whether the best way to Berlin involves Italy. Even with the considerable headway we have made on the peninsula, there are several other routes which seem to offer superior advantages.

One is through the Balkans, another up the Rhone Valley, and for both of these our possession of Italy is useful. There are the Scandinavian route and the Channel route. In neither of these is Allied occupation of Mussolini's former duchy without value. It serves as a diversion, and it offers to provide air fields from which support to more northerly invasions can fly.

But the crushing blow, in all probability, will not come from Italy. There are many who believe that, whatever may intervene, the end will not come until there has been a cross-channel invasion.

British invasion maneuvers half way across the channel, the other day, went off so successfully as to suggest that even that most difficult of approaches to Berlin can be used in the near future.

Allied strategy is, on the whole, conservative. Our general plan has been to move slowly, to test the ground firmly before each step forward, to make sure of success—as sure as the hazards of war permit—before each venture.

Our progress seems slow at times. But the method guards against disaster. And when the big blow falls it will be all the more crushing.

It is useful to realize fully that big events are coming close, for a number of reasons. There will be huge casualty lists, for which we must be prepared. There is going to be a terrific drain upon our resources. Gasoline will be needed in greater quantities than ever before. So will food, coal, clothing and incidentals for relief of the millions we are beginning to set free.

The end is approaching. It is reasonable to expect it, in Europe, during 1944. But we can not yet relax and draw a deep breath. Until the end comes, every victory will call upon us for increased exertion at home as well as on the fighting fronts.

THE PAC PROGRAM

Much has appeared in these columns lately concerning a new community organization, the PAC or Presbyterian Activities Club, and many have asked concerning its program and requirements.

Interviewed, officials state its purpose simply: "... to provide for the youth of the community a well rounded program which, through spiritual, educational social and recreational activities, will bring youth to a closer realization of true Christian fellowship and loyalty to Christ."

All students of eighth grade through high school are eligible to membership. Youth will be brought into the program through issuance of membership cards, without cost, based on the following pledge printed on the back of the pledge card: 1. To show respect for and to honor the Church and the things for which it stands. 2. To do my part to foster a feeling of Christian fellowship among the members. 3. To do my duty as a Christian at all times.

Plans are under way for a full fall and winter program for the young people, some of the details being announced elsewhere in this issue.

SUPPLEMENTAL LIST COMING

Carrying out earlier convictions of the staff that available service lists for Warren county men and women in uniforms were not complete, the Times-Mirror has had a great many calls within the week concerning names omitted from the roster published in the Sylvania Welcome edition on Tuesday.

All available sources were canvassed before the list was published in an effort to secure every name, but many parents had failed to list their young people with either the newspaper or the VFW Service Bureau until they read the list.

Many have already rectified this mistake and a sizeable list will be published in next Friday's edition, allowing plenty of time for additions or corrections. Those who have still not telephoned or mailed their names are asked to do so by noon on Thursday, September 24, so that Friday's supplemental roster may contain the name of every man or woman omitted in the original recital of the roll of honor.

A Little Cleanup Job

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — If there is anything in the Congressional offering more important to you and Joe Doakes and me than the upcoming tax bill, I can't think of it. Congress is beginning to resemble, for weeks, most of them have been listening to the ground rumbles in their constituencies. I haven't had an opportunity to talk to any substantial cross-section of them yet, but those I have talked to are as tax-conscious as a millionaire's C.F.A. and what they're conscious of, neither the Treasury nor the Administration is going to like.

If Secretary Morgenthau and the Administration come anywhere near selling that $12,000,000,000 tax program to Congress and the public, it's going to take a super-salesman.

That's why, in the coming tax battle, you are going to hear more and more of Judge Frederick Moore Vinson, director of economic stabilization, and the man who is supposed to keep vamping constantly on the check-rein of inflation.

"On the homefront," he says, "our deadliest and most insidious enemy is inflation. Inflation threatens the security of the people's savings. It is the mortal foe of every bank deposit, every insurance policy and every war bond."

But he's up against a problem. The Treasury and Administration have set their heart on upping the federal income tax a few more staggering billions. Congress, just back from fingering the pulse of a tax-groggery public, is in no mood to toy with the kind of epidemic which may be just around the corner at next year's voting booth. The disease is a mania for making ex-congressmen out of present incumbents and nobody knows the symptoms better than the men in office.

WHAT they're saying now is that voters, mostly in the white collar income brackets, are being knocked tax-daffy; that they can't take much more without upsetting the whole U. S. economy.

On the other hand, the economists are aware that we are hardly holding our own in the battle against inflation. Most of the economists, at least, are agreed that the two most potent weapons against inflation are taxation and forced savings; taxation to skim off the cream of excess spending power—forced savings to spread it out over the lean years that are bound to come.

IN the breach, between these two spearheads, stands kindly, hard-working Judge Vinson. It's up to him to bring off a compromise—a fusion of the two forces, without a major political disaster on one hand or a major economic one on the other.

How successful he is going to be remains to be seen. Congress will have to be sold on upping their tax sights; the Treasury on lowering its revenue hopes; and the public on the overall program.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — The reports from up front were that a lovely movie lady named Joan Fontaine was wasting away under the weight of work and period costumes, so I dashed over at a slow canter to see if I could call a doctor, hold a nurse's hand, or be of some other use.

I found no doctor, no nurse, only a chipper and gay Miss Fontaine. She was in her dressing room, swathed in a billowing 17th century outfit of metal cloth with a fur-trimmed jacket.

"I'm dreaming of a white Christmas," she announced merrily. "Never had one, you know. Brian (Aherne) and I are trying to get away to the Maine woods for some winter shooting and fishing."

FIRST she had to finish "Frenchman's Creek," a picture about which she was already singing paeons. "It's going to be the greatest picture ever made," she stated flatly. "Oh, I know about 'For Whom the Bell Tolls,' but that was our greatest yesterday—today's is 'Frenchman's Creek.'"

It's the most strenuous picture she ever did, appearing in most of its vaunted $3,500,000 worth of scenes in 18 changes of costume which average in weight about 30 pounds, under hot lights for the color camera, and to date she had lost nearly 10 pounds.

Daphne DuMaurier, who wrote the novel about the French pirate and the bored English wife, made it strenuous for the heroine who must, among other exploits, wrestle up and down a flight of stairs with villain Basil Rathbone before killing him. Most period movie heroines gasp on the sidelines while the heroes swash-buckle around, but Joan has to join here Arturo de Cordova in the swashing.

"The best thing about it," she said, "is that I don't cower, cringe, shudder or shriek—not once. I'm not a mousy little thing. I'm a Jezebel, a red-headed vixen, a regular Scarlett O'Hara. It's wonderful!"

JOAN'S mousy cringes, occurring in "Rebecca," "Suspicion," "Jane Eyre" and other epics, may have given you the impression she is a delicate little flower, but not She's the outdoor type, she said.

"I've made a hole in one," she averred, "and I love to go hunting and fishing. When we had the airplane, Brian and I used to go fishing from it. We could get to otherwise inaccessible lakes, land on pontoons, and really fish. I love those trips, sleeping outdoors, hiking, cooking for ourselves."

At home the Ahernes don't cook for themselves. They still have the Filipino boy, Frankie, Brian had in his bachelor days.

"As a matter of fact," said Joan, "Brian almost didn't marry me for fear he might lose Frankie, who is a woman-hater. Frankie always quit other bachelors when they married. But he seems to have solved me in his own way. He simply calls me 'Mister Aherne' and addresses me as 'Sir,' and thus I am accepted in the family."

NOTICE

"Pulpwood cutting has recently been listed as an essential occupation and those engaged in it should now include such activities in connection with any application for supplementary gasoline, tire, or automotive ration."

"If you are using gasoline-powered equipment in sawing, drawing or trucking pulpwood and it is absolutely necessary for you to have an additional allowance, you should report the fact to your local rationing board, giving full information as to the number of cords to be cut and the distance it must be trucked."

"Calling prices for pulpwood have been set by this office and are available upon application to your nearest OPA District Office. There is no present intention of revising these prices."

Japan Not Merely an Island With "Tinder Box" Industries

Washington, Sept. 17.—(P)—The Commerce Department cautioned today against adopting the "too hopeful" view that Japan is merely an island empire with "tinder box" war industries conveniently stockpiled in Tokyo, Osaka, and Nagoya and requiring only a spark to burst into flames.

Such a view, says an article in the department's "Foreign Commerce Weekly," overlooks "important facts concerning the geographic distribution and decentralization of Japan's war industries" made possible by the country's wide-spreading railroad and electric power networks.

"In particular it fails to appreciate that Japan's war industries no longer are confined merely to the islands of Japan proper, but are strongly established in Formosa, Korea, Manchuria and North China as well—to say nothing of possible industrial development under Japanese direction in the islands and countries of southeast Asia."

Decrying the popular conception of Japanese industrial facilities as "tinder boxes," the article declares that actually they are no more vulnerable in their construction than are their counterparts in western countries. Their destruction will call for heavy, "on the target" bombing.

On April 20, 1924, Mr. Locke returned to the United Natural Gas and affiliated companies and remained here until named to the presidency of the Pennsylvania Gas company. He was elected vice president of United Natural and affiliated companies on July 1, 1928, and served in that capacity until he went to Warren.

Football Season Opens Wide This Weekend as Most Famous Colleges Start Oddest Year

By Harold Claassen
New York, Sept. 20.—(P)—Notre Dame, Southern California, Army, Navy, Georgia Tech, Northwestern, California, Tulsa, Dartmouth and Ohio State unveil their 1943 football teams this weekend and hope to grab places alongside Michigan, Duke and Purdue as the stickouts of the infant season.

Notre Dame, where Angelo Bertelli will be tossing his bullet passes for the first half of the season, opens against Pittsburgh in the smoky city. Pitt coached by Clark Schaughnessy this season, claims to have the largest civilian squad in the country but doesn't appear powerful enough to hold the navy-strengthened Irish.

Southern California, with a collection of coast stars, and California, which inherited a major portion of last year's Stanford outfit, collide with UCLA and St. Mary's, respectively.

Army, regarded as having the best backfield in the east, unfurls its T-minded squad against Villanova, a "navy" school that mastered Muhlenberg, 35 to 12, last Saturday; and Navy goes against the officers and cadets of the North Carolina Pre-flight team.

Dartmouth, an early season eastern power, but weakened by ineligibilities, visits Holy Cross in a Sunday squabble and Northwestern, with Otto Graham still in there pitching, is the foe of Indiana, held to a 7 to 7 tie by pass-conscious Miami of Ohio, in its debut.

Ohio State, the country's No. 1 team last fall and relying entirely on civilians this season, entertains the Iowa Seahawks, 32 to 18 winners over Illinois in their first block and tackle party.

In the south, Georgia Tech displays what is expected to be the area's best lineup against North Carolina at Atlanta while Duke, which bruised the Camp Lejeune Marines, 40 to 0, Saturday, mixes with Richmond in a southern conference clash. The latter club downed the Richmond air base eleven, 45 to 0, in a night game Saturday.

Purdue and Marquette, a pair of heavy winners last weekend, collide under the lights in Milwaukee Saturday. The boiler-makers, bolstered by last year's Illinois and Missouri stars, downed great Lakes, 23 to 13, while coach Tom Stridman's lads trampled a weakened Wisconsin aggregation, 33 to 7.

This week the great lakes sailors help open Iowa's campaign while Wisconsin has another tough foe—the Camp Grant soldiers. The khaki kickers lost to the superb Michigan galaxy of big ten stars, 26 to 0 in their first appearance under Charley Bachman.

The Wolverines turn Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch loose at the expense of Western Michigan this week while a talent-thin Minnesota machine is host to Missouri, reputed to be the best in the big six, Princeton, which massacred Lakehurst naval by a 61 to 12 count in a practice game Saturday, is the guest of Pennsylvania. The Quakers not only are furnishing the site for the 1943 game but also provided the Tigers with a number of starting navy-trainees.

Rochester, 14 to 16 conqueror of Yale on George Sutch's one-man parade, risks its unbeaten record with Colgate while the Blue takes on the United States coast guard academy. Georgia, which surprised even Coach Wally Butts Friday by downing Presbyterian college, 25 to 7, hopes to have the same kind of success against Louisiana State.

Yanks Blow Chance to Clinch Pennant Over Weekend; But Few Doubt They'll Win Flag

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

It sounds fantastic, but can it be that the New York Yankees will "blow" the American League pennant to Washington, or perhaps even Cleveland, in the last two weeks of the season?

On top by a nine-game margin over the second place Senators and by 12 games over the third place Indians, the Yanks need to win only give of their remaining 14 games to clinch their seventh championship in eight years.

Under the circumstances this would seem no hardship for the Bronx Bombers, but there is every indication that gaining those five victories will be one of the toughest tasks the Yankees have faced this year.

The fact that they missed clinching at least a tie for the title by dropping a doubleheader to the Senators yesterday may prove the turning point. The double loss, 3 to 2 in 10 innings, and 5 to 1, gave the Senators a sweep of the three-game series against three of the best Yankee pitchers, Charley Wensloff, Spud Chandler and Ernie Bonham.

The sweep boosted Washington's winning streak to nine in a row. If the Senators win all of their remaining 12 games they will finish the season with 21 straight victories (remember the Chicago Cubs in 1935?). In that case the Yankees would have to win four games from the always difficult Detroit Tigers, Cleveland Indians, St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox to tie.

It is a bit more difficult to see how Cleveland, a notorious poor team on the road, can win the pennant, but it is possible.

The Indians have 13 games left to play, all on the road. Four are against the Yanks and three against Washington. If the Indians, who beat Detroit twice yesterday, 1 to 0 and 6 to 2, win all 13 while the Senators win 9 of 12 and the Yanks only one of 14, the Tribe would finish on top by half a game.

Great pitching by Early Wynn and Mickey Haefner accounted for Washington's double triumph. Wynn yielded only five hits in spoiling Chandler's bid for his 20th victory in the opener, winning in the tenth on Jake Powell's single. Haefner was touched for only two hits in outpitching Bonham in the nightcap.

Jim Bagby, likewise, turned in a two-hitter in blanketing Detroit for the Indians. Southpaw Al Smith, aided by Alie Reynolds in a relief role, stopped the Tigers in the nightcap.

The National League champions, the St. Louis Cardinals, who

Hunters Take Much Game In Nations Wilds

American hunters took 255,404,000 pounds of usable meat in the form of game during the 1942-43 hunting season, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has announced. Rabbits held first place in this harvest, with a total of more than 68,735,000 pounds, while deer came second with over 59,000,000 pounds. Squirrels totaled more than 22,000,000 pounds and raccoon, opossum and woodchuck came to 14,222,000 pounds. Other mammals included elk, 9,000,000 pounds; antelope, moose, bear, mountain sheep and goats, 1,650,000 pounds.

In the bird category, upland birds, including quail, pheasants, grouse, partridges and wild turkeys totaled 42,243,000 pounds, of which 15,000,000 pheasants accounted for 30,377,000 pounds. Ducks accounted for 32,500,000 pounds and geese for 3,000,000 pounds. Doves, band-tail pigeons and woodcock accounted for an additional 2,405,000 pounds.

Pittsburgh got back into the thick of the fight for second place by beating the Cincinnati Reds twice, 10 to 3 and 2 to 1. Rip Sewell chalked up his 21st victory in beating Elmer Riddle, a 19-game winner, in the opener.

The Boston Braves made it five in a row over the Phillies, 3 to 2 and 6 to 5 in 14 innings behind excellent pitching by Jim Tobin and Al Javery. Butch Nieman's homer with one on in the 14th won the nightcap.

The White Sox and the St. Louis Browns split, the Browns taking the opener, 7 to 4, and the Sox the nightcap, 6 to 1. The Boston Red Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics also split. Joe Dobson shut out the A's in the opener, 14 to 0, with five hits. The A's took the nightcap, 6 to 1, behind Jess Flores' eight-hit twirling.

WOMAN COACH LOSES
Saline, Pa., Sept. 20.—(P)—Pauline Rugh, the girl football coach, lost her second straight game yesterday—but by the margin of only one touchdown in this time. The score was Ligonier 13, Bell Township 7. A week ago Bell lost to Derry Township, 47 to 0.

DEER KIDNAPS GUIDE
The man that hit the dog was a piler compared to a big buck that Guide Orrie Crawford, of Pittsburgh, N. H., tells of meeting last year. Orrie, out hunting, had seated himself on a big windfall to eat his lunch. He heard something coming and soon a 10-point buck stuck his head through the foliage over the log he was sitting on. Cautiously Orrie grabbed his gun and sneaked along the log until he could see the deer's hide, then fired. As he did so he lost his balance and fell off the tree directly in front of the deer. The buck went down at the same time, then stumbled to his feet, with Orrie's sweater tangled in his antlers. The animal went away from there in high and so perforce did Orrie. Fortunately, the deer was badly wounded and soon dropped dead, leaving Orrie physically unharmed, but emotionally upset.

He leaned on a chair. "Secret Service... at your service," he said.

Chapter 1
JANE CARTER covered her typewriter and stacked papers in neat little piles on her desk, just as she did at 5 o'clock every afternoon. She slipped into her coat, put on her hat, picked up her purse and walked out.

Just like that. Nothing to hint that fear was churning up in her heart, nothing to let Chester Billingsley know that she knew.

A distinct sense of relief came as the door closed behind her.

This was the last time. Never again would she enter that office. She wouldn't dare. If that man ever found out...

The elevator girl smiled and Jane smiled back, hardly knowing she did so.

Outside, Jane breathed deeply of the crisp December air. She looked up and down the street, as though expecting to find changes. Changes as big as the one that had come into her life this afternoon. But it was the same. Only her tiny world, her job was different.

Finding the letter had done that. A letter that, while no names were mentioned, proved irrevocably that Chester Billingsley was not the lawyer that he pretended to be.

He couldn't get away with it! Not with sabotage!

SHE wouldn't go back to work day after day for him, taking dictation, receiving clients, keeping appointments. She couldn't knowing the truth as she did. She paused at Main Street until the traffic light changed, then crossed and walked half a block down Chestnut Avenue to the office of the Centralia Chronicle.

"Mr. Black, please," she told the girl at the information desk. When the girl said that the editor had not yet come in, Jane said, "I'll just go up to his office. It's all right, I'm his niece."

As though that straightened everything out, the girl smiled. "Oh, yes, of course," she murmured and returned to her work.

Jane glanced around the editorial room. Most of the men she had known were gone, many of them to the armed forces. She had gone with Uncle Ed to a few of the farewell parties, but they had brought back too many memories of Joe Masters and the fun they had had together, so she stopped going. There had been a party for Joe, too.

Her progress toward the door marked EDWARD H. BLANK, Editor, was interrupted by the arrival of a young man with dark, unruly hair.

He stopped whistling and swooped over Lucinda Eddy's desk, clucking her lightly under the chin. Lucinda looked flustered. "Behave yourself," she said.

"Now, sweetheart," the newcomer said brazenly, "you know I never misbehave. I'm just fallen in love with you, that's all."

Miss Eddy rushed to the roots of her graying hair. She started to say something, then her lips pursed primly and she turned to her typewriter.

Somebody laughed. Jane felt sorry for Miss Eddy. She always had liked her, tart tongue and all. She threw one disapproving glance at the young man and hurried into the editor's office, closing the door firmly behind her.

BRAD FORRESTER felt as though he had been slapped. "Who was that, Mike?" he asked the sports editor.

Mike Patrick grinned. "That," he replied, "is Jane Carter. But hands off, Brad."

"Why?"

Mike nodded. "Yep," he said. "Jane hasn't tumbled. Not since Joe Masters was shot down over Java."

"Oh." There was a different tone in his voice, just as there was a new look in Brad Forrester's eyes. He sauntered over to his desk and began to work on his notes.

Ed Black stalked through the news room, grunting "Good evening" to all of them at once. He paused for a few words with Lucinda Eddy, then went on to his office.

"Well, well, Jane. What are you doing here?" He took both her hands in his and kissed her lightly on the forehead. "I haven't seen you in a coon's age."

"I know," she said. "It's my fault, Uncle Ed, but I've been working almost every evening at the office."

"Billingsley is a fool," Black growled. "The best stenographer in town and he's working you to death."

Jane managed a weak smile. Yes, Billingsley was a fool, more so than Ed Black knew.

"Uncle Ed," she said then, "I've got to tell you something. You're not going to like it."

She paused, that old fear clutching at her throat again.

Uncle Ed put his arm around her. "What is it, dear. You look frightened."

"I am. Terribly."

SHE told him then, all the things at which that letter had hinted. "Instructions will follow," it had said, "and you must not fail. There must be no mistakes."

"And to think that I've been helping him!" She was crying now, great heaving sobs that racked her slim body. "Joey dying, and me... Oh, Uncle Ed!"

"There, there, now," he soothed, patting her shoulder.

"I can't go back, Uncle Ed. I won't. Not and help that—that damned Nazi." Her tears had gone, only an anger that burned deep remained. But she felt better. Uncle Ed would know what to do.

"Jane, darling," Uncle Ed said, giving her hand a confident squeeze. "You mustn't blame yourself. You didn't know. But Billingsley can't go on."

Without giving her a chance to say anything, he jabbed at the buzzer on his desk.

"Send Brad Forrester in."

Seconds later, the door opened. Jane caught her breath. So Brad Forrester was the smart alec in the news room, was he? She acknowledged the introduction with a slight nod and listened while her uncle re-told her story.

"But, Uncle Ed," she said when he finished, "shouldn't we call in the government men?"

Brad Forrester walked over and leaned both arms on the back of a chair and looked down at her somewhat grimly. "You just have, Miss Carter. Secret Service at your service."

READING & WRITING

By Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

WHEN Yank meets Aussie there are bound to be some amusing results. Corporal Thomas Richard St. George—"Ozzie" to his buddies—tells some of them in his book "C/O Postmaster," a current Book-of-the-Month Club selection.

When the boys stationed in a California camp received orders to move they thought maybe they were being sent down South, or perhaps back to St. Louis. It was only when they were informed that hereafter their mailing address would be "C/O Postmaster, San Francisco," they knew they were headed overseas. En route they spent most of their time debating whether they would end up at Alaska or a South Sea Island base. Australia came as a surprise to most of them.

They were treated like conquering heroes by the Australians—sometimes a little to their embarrassment. There was the time, for instance, when several of the boys were invited to tea by a Minister of the Gospel. Under the influence of the Minister's kindness, they grew expansive about their exploits. Why, on their trip over they had passed within a thousand miles of the Coral Sea Battle—only a few weeks after that battle had been concluded.

Later, the Minister told them modestly of his own experience. He had been in Rabaul when the Japanese landed, had fled inland with several others, and in a small boat and under the fire of a large portion of the Japanese Navy had finally reached Australia. Afterwards the boys held a session among themselves and decided, "The trouble with Americans is that they talk too much."

After they had conquered the art of shaving in cold water, without a mirror, they really did feel they were seasoned veterans. But to the Aussies, they were still creatures of luxury. When their army cots arrived the Aussies stared at them in wonderment. "A bloody bed," they murmured. An army cot isn't a Louis XIV canopied four-poster, but to the Aussies, accustomed to sleeping on bags stuffed with straw, it might well have been.

Corporal Thomas Richard St. George is twenty-three years old and a native of Simpson, Minnesota, a town of some eighty inhabitants. When "C/O Postmaster" was selected by the Book-of-the-Month Club, his publisher telephoned the news to the author's mother. Says this publisher: "Her tone was very matter-of-fact, as if to say that such things should happen to her son. I guess that's a pretty good way for a fellow's mother to feel about him, but being his publisher and not his mother, my attitude wasn't matter-of-fact at all!"

Only 17, But War Bond Sales Zoom! When This Lady Talks

There is a 1943 version of Uldine Utley, famed child-evangelist whose impassioned unrehearsed sermons packed them in in the '20s.

She is Aurelia Christea, 17, American-born daughter of Rumanian parents whose inspired oratory is skyrocketing War Bond sales today.

"Chris" is a natural on the speaker's rostrum. She looks the typical unspoiled young girl. No makeup, softly waving ash-blond hair of glamor length, clothes neatly tailored. Her manner is serene and confident.

If you ask this youngster what she plans to talk about an hour before she's scheduled to appear, she'll say she doesn't know. If you ask her what she's said an hour after she's said it she'll say she doesn't remember.

But she makes her audiences cry.

"Chris" was getting herself born in Canton, O., just about the time Uldine Utley was harranguing the devil. At 12 she started to edit an entire English page once a month for the Rumanian Daily News. As she was also the only contributor, this meant writing editorials, short stories, poems and items of general interest.

At Canton's McKinley High School, she made honor grades and kept up with all sorts of extra-curricular activities. In her junior year she won the state championship in oratorical declamation and in her senior year she won the "Prince of Peace" award for public speaking against 1872 other contestants. She'll go on to college and a diplomatic career (if the movies don't grab her first).

In January of this year, Raymond Moore, chairman of the War Finance Committee of Ohio, heard her speak extemporaneously at a McKinley High anniversary dinner following several distinguished plants, bond rallies, and organizational get-togethers in Ohio.

Her talks are all different but the underlying idea is always the same. "Chris" does not try to sell War Bonds to people as a good business investment. Rather, she sells the fighting men whom the War Bonds back up. And she finds that people can be sold on people any day.

"Sign blindness," the dangerous habit of ignoring warning signs, is the major cause of automobile accidents.

Bishop Wroth Here Sunday

Returning to Warren for his first Sunday service since his ordination as head of the Episcopal Diocese of Erie, Bishop E. P. Wroth conducted services in the morning at Trinity Memorial parish and in the afternoon at St. Luke's in Kinzua.

Following the services here, Bishop Wroth christened Albert Kane Kropf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas G. Kropf, Fourth and Poplar streets, and little Joan Elizabeth Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Rice, 7 Maple Place.

The morning service, Trinity choir honored its former rector by singing one of his favorite compositions, "Gallia." He was complimented by the choir on Saturday evening, also, when he and Mrs. Wroth were guests for a party at the parish house.

Salerno and Environs Held With Heavy Artillery

ing abreast of the troops under Clark's command.

Other correspondents considered it possible that the German withdrawal reported by American army near Contursi might have been hastened by the British Eighth Army cutting due north past the Salerno bridgehead.

Commenting on the strategic value of the Sorrento peninsula, the headquarters spokesman said: "As we control all the heights of the Sorrento peninsula we undoubtedly control all of the peninsula since it is unlikely the Germans would stay in the lower parts just to be destroyed."

The Allies were in possession of Amalfi and other towns on the south side of the peninsula which extends into the sea 22 miles west of Salerno.

Naples lies just 12 miles across the water from the Sorrento heights, within range of Allied artillery which also is presumably in position to shell the naval base of Castellammare and the railway town of Torre Annunziata, both on the lower elbow of the bay. Mt. Vesuvius is only 10 miles from the newly won Allied positions.

Not only does the seizure of the peninsula and the occupation of the Neapolitan islands add up to a flanking movement against Naples, marked by Clark last week as one of the next Allied objectives, but the German withdrawal from Sardinia, admitted today by Berlin, gives the Allies several potential air bases from which to reach northern Italy and southern France.

Tonawanda Couple Mary Lind Bride Are Honored Here Of Jack W. Moore For Anniversary At First Lutheran

Returning to the place of their marriage to celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Johnson, of Tonawanda, N. Y., have been honored at several informal gatherings over the weekend.

On Saturday evening, they were guests at an informal open house given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Johnson, 124 Russell street, where a great many guests included their daughter, Miss Caroline, also of Tonawanda, and Louis Johnson, of Warren, who was best man when they were wed.

The home was prettily decorated throughout with many lovely bouquets of summer garden flowers and these were used, with candles, in carrying out a color scheme of yellow and blue for the buffet supper table. A wedding cake artistically decorated was another feature of the appointments.

The Johnsons, who reside on Calvert boulevard, Ellicott Creek, Park, in Tonawanda, have two children, Miss Caroline, at home, and John, who resides in Buffalo, but was unable to be present for the occasion.

The Johnsons and their daughter were guests Sunday for a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Johnson at their home, 521 Prospect street, and for a luncheon given today by Mrs. Christ Lind, 113 Parker street.

They expect to return home late this afternoon.

It is estimated that 17 million American children have never been to a Sunday school.

DAC Planning Party For Young People As One of Series of Special Occasions

Having just scored a great hit with its corn roast, first item on the fall and winter program, the Presbyterian Activities Club is going ahead rapidly with details for the cabaret-style party to be held at the YWCA activities building Saturday night of this week.

Special committees indicate some of the highlights, such as music by Jerry McCune's Orchestra; decorations and special menus; Salome, the Swani; a hot dog bar installed by Delbert Lewis and supervised by Bob Swick and his boys; a crew of capable waiters headed by Alan Woodruff; three-act floor show; special lighting in charge of Don White; amplifier secured through Beaty Principal H. D. Harris and in charge of Leland Day; and the committee reveals it is not telling "all".

On the general committee are Polly Mathis, Ruth Eaton, Jean Crossett, Janet Cannon, Alan Woodruff, Jay White, Leland Day, Don White and Bob Swick. Named

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Bacon and Corn Make a Grand Casserole

In these days of shortages there are so many things to recommend this casserole dinner we hardly know where to start. It's timely for the corn season. It's quick and easy to fix. It spreads the flavor of only a half pound of bacon through a hearty meal for 4.

Since the bacon does double duty as a seasoning for the corn, replacing butter in this casserole—it's wise to get Armour's Star Bacon. It's a rich, mild bacon that is sugar-cured in its own juices, then slow-smoked over fragrant hickory and hardwood fires. It gives this casserole such a grand flavor your family will call for it often.

Place 2 cups of fresh or canned whole kernel corn in a casserole. Arrange slices of Star Bacon in a fan shape over the top of corn as illustrated. Bake in a 350° F. oven until the bacon is crisp and the corn is heated through and well seasoned with the bacon fat. Garnish with a mixture of chopped green pepper and pimiento. It makes 4 generous servings.

MUST FINISH XMAS SHOPPING BY OCT. 15 FOR BOYS OVERSEAS

Since mailing of Christmas gifts to men and women in our armed forces overseas must start by September 15 and end by October 15, the Christmas shopping season has already begun. Postmaster General Frank C. Walker told radio listeners during a recent broadcast of "Washington Reports on Rationing," public service program sponsored by the Council on Candy as Food in the War Effort. After October 15, a parcel cannot be mailed to Army personnel overseas without a request for the article from the soldier who is to get it, the Postmaster General said. He also urged the marking of all city mail with the proper delivery zone number, saying that if the public will cooperate fully it will speed up mail deliveries now, at Christmas time and after the war too. "Washington Reports on Rationing," featuring prominent Washington personalities as guests and Ernest K. Lindley, Washington editor of Newsweek Magazine, as host-commentator, is broadcast each Sunday at 3:00 p.m. over the NBC Network. It is presented as a public service by the Council on Candy as Food in the War Effort, and sponsored by the National Confectioners' Association.
